

REPEAT LEAVING CERT

O'Connell School, Dublin

Looking for better points?

My name is Cian Gargan. I repeated in O'Connell's in 2018. I didn't work as hard as I should have during my first Leaving Cert. I got offered a computer science course that I knew wasn't for me. I decided that repeating would be my best option. I found maths difficult and I didn't want to risk being in the 33% computer science dropout rate.

After repeating in O'Connell's I went up 119 points and I got my first choice which was Biological and Biomedical Science in Trinity. I am now half way through my first year and loving my course. I would recommend repeating to anyone who wasn't satisfied with their course offer. Repeating can be a tough year but if you put the work in, your results can be dramatically better.

O'Connell's has great facilities and very helpful teachers. Between the study periods and evening study I always had my homework finished by the end of the day and lots of study done. All the teachers are very committed and put in a lot of extra work for their students. The days can be very long but it was definitely worth it in the end.
